Celebration Calendar

- remembering special days in special ways

Have you ever forgotten to send a card to someone in your family on their birthday? Or missed calling to congratulate a friend on their anniversary?

It won't happen again because our Celebration Calendar filled with your photos will put those days behind you.

Create your own calendar with pictures of family and friends and include every event you want to remember and celebrate.

Add memorial dates with images of loved ones who have passed away so you can cherish the memories of time spent with them.

Add as many holidays and events as you want to your own, very unique Celebration Calendar.

Share your love of family and friends by giving the Celebration Calendar to those close to you.

Feel more connected as you browse through each month filled with images that celebrate the people that are an important part of your life – and feel good about not forgetting to call on those special days.

How does it work? All you have to do is gather your photos and enter the names and dates of the events you want to celebrate into a simple spreadsheet and send it to us. We'll give you a template to work with.

You can be as hands-on as you want with your photos – scan them to size yourself or send them to us. We'll take good care of your photos and return them to you when we deliver your calendar. Decide what photos you want to show at the top of your calendar. Be creative – include copies of your children's art work, photos of your pet, images of special family objects passed down through generations.

Tell us your preferences for date formats – like showing the year or not. For example, you can show a birthday event as 'Bob Breakstone's Birthday' or 'Bob Breakstone b: 1956'. And you can decide if you want to show photos for your loved ones who have passed away on the day they were born or the day they died, or both. We'll print your calendar the way you want it.

Once we have the names, dates and photo files, we will create your custom calendar with all the pictures shown on individual dates. We send you a draft version that you can review and wait for your approval before we create the final copy.

The last step is to decide how many copies you want for your family and friends. Each calendar is printed on premium paper and spiral-bound, ready for hanging. Each order comes with a file that you can view from your computer.

Think of this as a perpetual calendar where most of the work will be completed the first year – gathering all the photos and dates. In following years, you can just add more names and dates (e.g. new born babies, memorial dates) and change a few photos. It will be even easier for you the second time around.

Having your own Celebration Calendar will bring joy into your life every day of the year. With your calendar full of photos hanging before you in easy view, you'll feel more connected with your family and friends and you'll appreciate that friendly reminder to call those who mean so much to you on their special day.
